The report of the Bureau of Statistics shows that the exportations of minerals from this country for ten months, ending October 31, 1885, amounted in value to $41,598,424, an increase of $1,132,299 over the same period last year. This, taken in connection with the fact that prices of silver, copper, lead, and, in fact, nearly every mineral have ruled unusually low during the year, indicates a large increase in production.

Stay Away From Butte, M. T.

Butte, M. T., is perhaps the best camp in the world for laboring men, says the miner of that town. Wages are high and regularly paid. In the mines, mills and smelters here there are over four thousand men employed, and their wages amount to $400,000 per month. These facts seem to have been circulated throughout the country, and the result has been a tremendous influx of laboring men seeking employment in every avenue of trade. A large majority of them are miners from the played-out camps of Colorado, Utah and Nevada. Most of them are "broke," and they come here expecting to get work on their arrival, only to be disappointed. Every mining superintendent receives from twenty to one hundred applications per day for which he cannot give. The situation is appalling. Winter is coming on, and it will be cold and long. What these idle men will do to sustain themselves becomes a very important problem to other people here as well as to themselves. It will do them no good to remain here. Butte cannot give employment to all the men in the Rocky Mountains. Montana, during the winter months, possesses no attractions for idle men, and they will suffer if they remain here in such large numbers. There is nothing ahead of them but continued idleness, unless, by scattering to the small mining districts, wood camps and farms, they can secure employment until the prospecting season next year.

Kn. of P. Banquet.

For the past few weeks the officers and members of the Knights of Pythias of this city, have been working hard to swell the ranks of their Order in this city, and within that short time have gained about thirty-five new members. The new members appreciating the many efforts of their older brethren decided to show their appreciation by giving them and other lodges in the county a grand banquet. Last evening after the adjournment of the lodge, some one hundred Knights—including the visiting brethren—marched from the Castle hall, and under the leadership of T. A. Atchison, S. C. C., arrived at the International restaurant, where the tables were all prepared and the Knights set down to an elegant collation. After the inner man had been supplied, and the throats of the participants cleared with the sparkling fluid, the lodge was called to order, a piano brought in and the opening ode of the Order sang. After which intermingled with song and merriment different toasts were offered.

Mr. T. A. Atchison responded to the toast "The Supreme Lodge," "Uniform Rank," responded to by W. D. Monmonier. "To the new members," responded to by Hon. Judge Street, and had it not been for the disturbance of the "Twins in swaddling clothes," created by clinking their glasses together, our reporter might have heard their names in full, but the echo resounding from the end of the banquet hall seemed to sound like i Bryant lipi Clark. The toast to the Grand Lodge was responded to very neatly by W. W. Baldwin, of Benson lodge; the Endowment Rank by G. W. Swain; Visiting Brothers, by Dr. Porter, of Benson, and to the Ladies, by that pink of perfection M. G. Fagrie. Dr. Dunn, Mr. Otto Bauer, and Mr. Ed. Wilson favored the assemblage with choice instrumental and vocal music, which was highly appreciated.

Mineral Wealth.

It will probably surprise many of our readers to know that the value of the mineral substances taken from the ground in the United States amounts, every year, to more than four hundred million dollars. This is not the selling value at market, but that of the metals on the spot where they are produced.

The total value in 1884 was about a hundred and thirteen million dollars, which was less by forty millions than for 1883. The chief items in this enormous sum were as follows: coal, one hundred and forty-four million dollars, the average price at the mine being only one dollar and thirty-three cents a ton; gold and silver, eighty million dollars; brick and tile, thirty millions; iron ore, twenty-two millions; petroleum, twenty millions; building stone, nineteen millions; lime eighteen millions; copper, eighteen millions; lead, ten millions.

These items make up three hundred and eighty million dollars. No other substance contributed so much as ten millions to the total, which amounts to an average of seven dollars for every man, woman, and child in the country.

When we consider the immense addition made to the value of these products by manufacture and transportation, the vast importance of the mining industries may be realized. For example, the iron ore consumed during 1884 was valued at only twenty-two and a half millions, but the iron and steel made from it, was worth, at the furnaces, one hundred and seven millions.

These are the figures for a very bad year. The value of mineral products in the next year of good business will probably exceed five hundred millions.—Mining Review.

A well known barber in this city came to the conclusion a short time ago, that he was buying a whole lot of water in his milk and determined to fool the milkman, so the other evening after he had closed up his shop, he proceeded to the lower end of town and purchased a goat, and the public can imagine his chagrin when he went out the next morning to milk the aforesaid goat and found that it was a William goat. Any person desiring a goat can buy one at half price at the present time.

The beheading of chickens and swearing Chinamen upon the blood of the same was the novel feature of the District Court yesterday, and was resorted to in order to get the truth from the Celestials in the Chinese murder case. Two interpreters were also employed so as to prevent any misunderstanding or imposition in this direction. As two companies are fiercely opposing each other in this case, there is a strong probability of the jury ascertaining and determining the truth.—Phoenix Gazette.

She claims the property is her separate estate and also asks that the executors be ordered to execute deed and property to her.

Bowman, one of the most prominent citizens of East St. Louis, Illinois, was approaching his home in the outskirts of the town between 7 and 8 o'clock last night he was shot in the back of the head or neck by some unknown person and almost instantly killed. The perpetrators and the motive for the murder remain a mystery. The deceased was an able lawyer, and formerly was mayor of East St. Louis.

UNDER THE GALLOW.

Frightful Condemnation of a Mother by her Son—What Does it Mean?

Not long ago a weeping mother called to bid good-bye to her only son who was soon to be executed.

"Woman," he exclaimed in a momentary frenzy, "Woman, I would never have been here had you done your duty by me when I was young!"

This was a terrible parting! It horrified the spectators. It nearly choked the conscience-stricken mother. One can scarcely overestimate the mother's influence in the moulding of the character of her offspring. But how often, oh, how often, do mothers seem to ignore this responsibility!

During a recent trip on the rail the writer made the acquaintance of Dr. A. J. Benedict, of Sackett's Harbor, N. Y., a person who has made a study of human development. Referring to the murderous tendency of the times, we asked that eminent man if the outlook was not discouraging?

"It looks so," he said, "but I fancy we have a cause and the remedy for such evils. In my professional career I have found by hard study we that have emerged from savagery by development of the nervous system and the intellectual life, and we return to savagery as we ignore the fact that without the solid, trustworthy nervous system, we cannot hope to save the race. Boys stuff dime novels, and the pistol is to them the only respectable glorious instrument to secure fame. Women read trashy literature and straightway try to murder their husbands and friends by poison. Business men yield to the tempter, and force and steal and default. Ministers, charmed by beauty, forget the behests of conscience. On every side we see the weakness of personal integrity."

"Do you regard it as a disease?"

"More especially as the result of disease which, however, may be prevented."

"Please define how."

"I cannot now enter into details. Our people can see their bodies, their blood, their bones. They never see their nerves and consequently many do not suppose they have any." The farmer's wife rejoices in a big, physical frame, and yet she dies prematurely. The nerve cannot stand the strain of continual work. The minister falls dead in his pulpit, but he never did a day's physical work in his life. The lawyer faints in the presence of the court and is soon a wreck or a corpse, and yet the work is nerve work. The man of affairs is overcome with apoplexy; the politician and publicist, with Bright's disease. The mind of the untutored man is fired by the exploits of crime and he longs for such fame. These persons overwork or over-excite the nervous system and this kills or deranges them."

"If all this be so how would you rectify it then?"

"Let me tell you. A few years ago I had a lady patient who was an utter wreck. She was the mother of several children. She lost her mind and imagined she was cursed of God. She was a farmer's wife, and worked early and late. I never saw a finer specimen of physical womanhood than she, but she was a nervous wreck! She became bloodless, had the very worst of female disorders and was in the last stages of an aneurysm or Bright's disease. This latter disease works particular havoc with the nervous system and produces insanity and despair. She was insane and desperate and I fear tainted the blood of her offspring with these terrible tendencies. I treated her for several years. One by one the standard remedies of the schools failed, but I finally cured her with Warner's safe cure, and she is today strong and well. Yet thousands of women like her, every year bring ill-formed and criminally-inclined children into the world. Is it any wonder that nervous diseases prevail and that the whole moral sense is demoralized? If that remedy were generally used, we would have stronger mothers, stronger children, stronger men and women, and with perfect physical and mental health, crime would decrease and society be more secure."

Such candid opinions are surely worth considering.
